UH CATALOG COURSE DESCRIPTION

SOC 300 Principles of Sociological Inquiry (4). (3 lec, 2 50-min lab) Basic methods of sociology for production and analysis of data. Foundations for understanding research and for advanced courses in methods and statistics. Pre: 100 or any 200-level SOC course or junior standing, or consent. DS E

Focus Designation: This course has a Contemporary Ethical Issues (E or ETH) Focus Designation. Contemporary ethical issues are fully integrated into the main course material and will constitute at least 30% of the content. At least 8 hours of class time will be spent discussing ethical issues. Through the use of lectures, discussions and assignments, students will develop basic competency in recognizing and analyzing ethical issues; responsibly deliberating on ethical issues; and making ethically determined judgments.

INTRODUCTION

Research is at the center of social inquiry. It provides the intellectual investigation requisite for the discovery, interpretation, and revision of social knowledge.

While one of the most important objectives in any academic curricula is to train students to be disciplined, productive researchers, there is also a more fundamental objective — how do we know what we think we know?

Social research leads to informed decision-making by government and private enterprise. Therefore it is vital to understand research design and to have the ability to evaluate its evidence whilst distinguishing reliable studies from those to be viewed with skepticism. Objective evaluation using appropriate scientific methods allows us to distinguish illusion from reality.

Principles of Sociological Inquiry is designed to lay the foundation for empirical research in the social sciences and impart the necessary skills for advancement to 400-level coursework. The emphasis of this introductory course is on breadth rather than depth. Therefore, we will survey many topics, techniques, and methodologies.

INSTRUCTOR'S ADVICE TO STUDENTS

This syllabus is different from many others. It is longer than some, more detailed than most. But most importantly, it is designed to help you successfully pass the course. Please keep this syllabus for reference during the course.

In the following pages, there are many suggestions to you but the most crucial one is this: Get help as soon as you think you need it. Do not create an insurmountable "catch-up" problem for yourself. If you are seriously in need of help, make an appointment to meet with me.

Because the course is somewhat concentrated and the learning process is a cumulative one, it is imperative that students do not fall behind and, to this end, please note the following:

1. Each assignment will be graded and individual feedback will be provided.
2. After each term examination, every student will be provided with an individual grading sheet that explains any deduction of points.
3. Students are encouraged to contact me to discuss their progress.
4. Most importantly, take ownership of your education in this class by completing all reading and writing assignments on time and participating in all discussions. Students who make the requisite investment of time and effort in this foundation course will be amply rewarded in their future advanced coursework.

STUDENT LEARNING OBJECTIVES

The overall goals for this course are sixfold – namely, for students to:

1. Develop an understanding of the elements of research design, research methods and theory construction so that they can systematically study the social world and apply it to new circumstances.
2. Gain insight into the underlying qualitative and quantitative methods employed by sociologists in their research, and foster the ability to constructively criticize the methods used in any social science study.
3. Learn to recognize the problems and limitations of doing research on human behavior and the caution that is necessary when drawing conclusions from the results of any one study.
4. Become familiar with the political and ethical considerations when conducting social science research.
5. Learn to apply ethical principles within a cohesive ethical framework.
6. Cultivate their knowledge of social research practices in preparation for the next courses in the methods sequence.

To accomplish such goals, this course will utilize a combination of lectures, readings, discussions, and practicums. Lectures and readings will focus on the introduction of new material; discussions and writings will assist in comprehension of the material; practicums will provide “hands-on” experience.

COURSE READINGS

A set of supplemental readings will be provided.

COLLABORATION AND LEARNING ENVIRONMENT (CLE)

Laulima is the University of Hawai'i's Collaboration and Learning Environment (CLE). Links to the discussion board and other salient features will be provided thereon.

COURSE MATERIALS

1. An active UHM email account that is checked regularly as there will be times when I will contact you individually or as a class.
2. A reliable computer with internet access. (ITS labs are available throughout campus with generous hours of operation.)

ATTENDANCE POLICY

This is an online asynchronous course. Your active participation constitutes your attendance. While attendance is not explicitly used in the calculation of your overall course grade, I am required to report excessive absences – or in this case, non-participation – to your academic dean. The matter is then left to the dean's discretion.

Having explained the attendance policy, please know that research has shown — and my experience confirms — that absenteeism is correlated with lower grades. This is especially true of this course as the knowledge is cumulative with each step building on the previous step. Inconsistent attendance creates insurmountable “catch-up” problems for students.

In other words, absenteeism is counter-productive to your academic objectives and strongly discouraged. However, this course will come easily to anyone who keeps up with the assignments and gets help when needed.

COURSE DESIGN

1. Practicums and e-Learning

Practicums and e-learning are designed to teach the techniques and skills of social science research. You will need these in order to develop the competency essential for writing your Final Paper. The practicums and online resources are learning opportunities. Make full use of each and every one.

NOTE: National Institutes of Health Protecting Human Research Participants (PHRP) (Practicum #1): <http://phrp.nihtraining.com/users/login.php>

2. Critical Readings and Discussions

Selected readings from journals and other publications will provide stimuli for weekly class discussions, and in some cases, critiques and analyses. These will require some thought and possibly some research, so it is unwise to wait until the due date to post your comments.

Regular, timely and meaningful participation is a key factor in your grade. Please note that late assignments will not be accepted by the Laulima system.

3. Quizzes

Five quizzes consisting of short-answer and multiple choice questions will be administered during the course. Quizzes will reflect lectures, textbook content, and readings. Everyone is required to take the quizzes during the specified time period.

4. Research Project

This written assignment will be a five- to eight-page research paper based on cumulative research conducted throughout the course, concomitantly demonstrating his/her knowledge and awareness of all relevant ethical issues. A proposal is to be submitted to the instructor by the time and date specified in the Schedule of Reading Assignments and Examinations. Once approved by the instructor, a topic may not be changed without the instructor's approval of a new proposal.

WARNING: Do NOT miss a discussion, practicum, or exam! All must be taken or submitted when scheduled. This online course allows you the freedom to self-direct your work within extended timeframes; as a result, there will be no makeup postings or exams.

For success in this course, adherence to all deadlines is imperative. Therefore, extensions will not be given.

METHOD OF EVALUATION: Assignments, Examinations, and the Course Grading Criteria

Grading Policy

The overall grading structure of the course will consist of:

Critical readings and discussions	....25%
Practicums .....	40%
Quizzes .....	25%
Final Exam/Research Project .....	10%

Course Grading Criteria

This course employs a criterion grading system. Therefore, theoretically, everyone in the class could earn an "A". This helps to prevent students from being penalized in the event one or two students do exceptionally well. To assure a specific grade, consider the following scale:

94-100% = A	87-89% = B+	77-79% = C+	67-69% = D+
90-93% = A-	83-86% = B	73-76% = C	63-66% = D
	80-82% = B-	70-72% = C-	60-62% = D-

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS FOR ONLINE DISCUSSION PARTICIPATION

Asynchronous open class discussions form a significant part of this online course. As students share ideas, perspectives, and experiences with their classmates, they will find this collective interaction will enhance and support learning objectives.

WEEKLY DISCUSSIONS

Discussions will begin each Monday at 12 noon (HST), and each session will last one week, ending the following Monday at 12 noon (HST).

REQUIREMENTS

One initial post and two responses are to be made during each discussion.

1. Initial posts should be a minimum of two paragraphs each and are students' comments based on the discussion topic. These are to be posted early in the session to ensure that a dynamic discussion ensues within the course community of learners
2. Two peer responses should be a minimum of one paragraph each and are students' replies to their classmates' postings.
3. Additional posts/responses addressing the discussion topic may be made at timely intervals throughout the session. Statements are to be supported with examples, citations, references, etc.

Posts and responses should be thorough and thoughtful. One or two short paragraphs will suffice, but merely posting "I agree," or similar, will be inadequate (see 1 and 2 above).

The following rubric will be used to assess the quality of students' initial postings and responses.

CRITERIA	UNACCEPTABLE	SATISFACTORY	EXCELLENT
Participation	None, or late in session.	Initial post early in session and at least two peer responses later in session.	Initial post by mid-week and two or more peer responses by weekend.
Demonstrates understanding of readings and outside references	Posts/responses show little evidence that readings were completed or understood. Postings are mostly personal opinions/feelings.	Posts/responses display understanding of required readings and underlying concepts with correct use of terminology and citations.	Posts/responses display understanding of required readings and underlying concepts with correct use of terminology and citations. Extends the learning of the community by integrating other resources to support important points. Well-edited quotes are cited appropriately.

Content	Posts information that is off-topic, incorrect, or irrelevant to discussion.	Posts information that is factually correct. Lacks full development of concept or thought.	Posts factually correct, reflective, and substantive contribution. Advances discussion.
Clarity, spelling, and mechanics	Posts long, unorganized or inappropriate content. May contain incomplete sentences that are grammatically incorrect and contain spelling errors.	Communicates in friendly, courteous, and helpful manner. Contributes valuable information to discussion with minor clarity, spelling, or mechanics errors. IMPORTANT NOTE CONCERNING STUDENT CONDUCT

Students are required to abide by the University of Hawai'i at Mānoa Student Conduct Code. Note that "the University of Hawai'i at Mānoa exists for the pursuit of knowledge through teaching, learning, and research conducted in an atmosphere of physical and intellectual freedom. Moreover, members of the UH academic community are committed to engage in teaching, learning, research, and community service and to assist one another in the creation and maintenance of an environment which supports these activities. It is therefore the policy of the University that members of the academic community may not violate the rights of one another nor disrupt the basic activities of the institution (as provided in section 1-4, chapter 1 of the Board of Regents' Bylaws and Policies [Part D]). Students who are disruptive are, consequently, subject to a variety of academically related penalties which may include reprimand, probation, restitution, suspension or expulsion." (<http://www.manoa.hawaii.edu/students/conduct/>).

Furthermore, recognize that the code prohibits all forms of scholastic dishonesty, including cheating, plagiarism, and falsification or misrepresentation of experimental data. The code covers all written and oral examinations, term papers, creative works, assigned computer related work, and any other academic work done at the University of Hawai'i. Any violation of the student code will be reported.

Any further questions regarding the Conduct Code should be addressed to the Office of the Dean of Students, Bachman Annex 10, phone V/T (808) 956-3290.

Revised Student Conduct Code (July 2009)

There is a change in the Student Conduct Code that has been adopted by the Board of Regents. The new Student Conduct Code became effective in July 2009. It comes in two parts. The revised system-wide part is available at: <http://www.hawaii.edu/apis/ep/e7/e7208.pdf>.

The Mānoa part is available at: http://studentaffairs.manoa.hawaii.edu/downloads/Conduct\_Code/UHM\_Student\_Conduct\_Code.pdf

"The following are examples of the types of behavior that conflict with the community standards that the UH values and expects of students. Engaging in, or attempting to engage in any of these behaviors subjects a student to the disciplinary process and sanctions on each campus:

1. Acts of dishonesty, including but not limited to the following:
  - a. Cheating, plagiarism, or other forms of academic dishonesty.
  - b. Furnishing false information to any UH official, faculty member, or office.
  - c. Forgery, alteration, or misuse of any UH document, record, or form of identification.

The term "cheating" includes, but is not limited to:

- (i) The use of any unauthorized assistance in taking quizzes, tests, or examinations;
- (ii) The use of sources beyond those authorized by the instructor in writing papers, preparing reports, solving problems, or carrying out other assignments;
- (iii) The acquisition, without permission, of tests or other academic material belonging to a member of the UH faculty, staff or student
- (iv) Engaging in any behavior specifically prohibited by a faculty member in the course syllabus or class discussion.

The term "plagiarism" includes, but is not limited to:

- (i) The use, by paraphrase or direct quotation, of the published or unpublished work of another person without full and clear acknowledgement.
- (ii) The unacknowledged use of materials prepared by another person or agency engaged in the selling of term papers or other academic materials."

ELECTRONIC COURSE AND FACULTY EVALUATION (eCAFE) SYSTEM

The Department of Sociology is committed to attaining continual improvement in the quality of its course offerings. For this reason, your assistance is much-needed as you progress with your education. As students (and course consumers), only you are able to tell us about your educational experiences in your classes, and you are encouraged to do so through our evaluation process.

Toward the end of each semester, you will be informed of the time period during which the online eCAFE system will be available for submission of course evaluations by logging in to <http://www.hawaii.edu/ecafe/>.

To assure the openness of the evaluation process and the availability of submitted information to incoming students, current students, the Department, and other interested parties, the results of the evaluations will be accessible at <http://www.hawaii.edu/ecafe/>.

By participating in this process, you are assuring that UH will continue to improve its course offerings and available resources for students.

Disclaimer: If circumstances change, the instructor reserves the right to alter, modify, amend, or otherwise change the syllabus. No changes are anticipated at this time, but if changes do become necessary, students will be notified in writing.
