Tsedev Damiran and Dick Pratt Give Talk at the Asia-Pacific Exchange

Date: April 2006

On April 29th Tsdev Damiran and Dick Pratt gave a talk at a forum organized by the Center for Asia-Pacific Exchange. Their presentation focused on the reform of public institutions in Mongolia since the Soviet Union pulled out in 1990. This work is based on a paper they have written titled, "Public Administration Development and Reform of a Post-Communist Regime: The Case of Mongolia." Tsdev Damiran is a Scholar in Residence in the Public Administration Program. Dick Pratt has been working on reform-related projects in Mongolia since 2002.