Administrative Experience

Acting Director, Ethnic Studies Program, University of Hawai'i, Manoa, 1974 - 77, 1990

Served as director for the fledgling Ethnic Studies Program at the University of Hawai'i - Manoa during its formative years when its faculty struggled to develop the curriculum to establish it as a permanent program, between 1974 - 77. Served as Acting Director while regular director was on leave in Spring 1990.

Principal Investigator, Ethnic Studies Oral History Project, 1976-78

Set up the Ethnic Studies Oral History Project within the administrative framework of the University of Hawai'i - Manoa campus together with the project staff. Funding for the program was attained through direct legislative funding.

Programmer, University of Hawai'i - Manoa Campus Center, 1974

for summer student programs and non-credit courses.

Graduate Faculty Activities (2010 - 2015)

Since the last review period, I have presented papers at professional conferences of the Association for Asian American Studies in 2010, 2012, 2013 and 2014. I also helped to organize the Department of Ethnic Studies 45th anniversary conference in March 2015 and participated in a panel which debated about Native Hawaiian sovereignty and Hawai'i independence. I have served on the editorial board of The Contemporary Pacific journal from 2010 to present. I am an affiliate faculty member of the Bernice Pauahi Bishop Museum. In the Department of Ethnic Studies I have served on the Ethnic Studies Steering Committee and chaired the Department Personnel Committee from 2010 to present. Campus wide, I am on the graduate faculty of the Department of Urban and Regional Planning, and am an affiliate faculty of the Center for Pacific Islands Studies; the Public Policy Center; and the Indigenous Politics Program of the Political Science Department. I have chaired the department personnel committee of the Center for Pacific Islands Studies from 2012 to present and served on personnel committees for the Kamakakuokalani Center for Hawaiian Studies from 2012 to 2014. In June 2015, I participated in an exchange between faculty from the University of Waikato and Victoria University who are members of the Society of Maori Astronomy Research and Traditions (SMART) and faculty of UH-Mānoa regarding the Maori Matariki and the Hawaiian Makahiki celebrations wherein I was part of panel presentations at both universities.

In the past five years, I have published one article in one of the major journals in the field of Asian American studies, Journal of Asian American Studies; one sole-authored chapter in a book published by Rutgers University Press; two jointly authored book chapters in a book published by Duke University Press; and I have one sole-authored article in press with the University of Arizona press. I have also published four (4) scholarly works since 2010 - a foreword to a book, an essay providing a profile of an alumnus for the Punahou 175th Anniversary book, and entries in two Asian American encyclopedias. Over the past three years I have worked with UH Richardson School of Law Associate Professor Melody Mackenzie on a book manuscript that is contracted to be published by the University of Hawai'i Press. In 2010, I completed a consultant report, "Cultural Impact Assessment for Construction and Public Use of the Ala Pālā'au Project, Pā lā'au State Park, Moloka'i" for Ke Aupuni Lōkāhi, Moloka'i Enterprise Community funded for $1500. Since 2010, I have worked on a grant from the National Park Service Pacific West Regional Office for $50,000 on a project, "Connecting People and Place at Kalaupapa National Historical Park - Explorations in Oral History." In 2011 I developed an online curriculum module for the U.S. National Library of Medicine, "Healing Elements: A Native Hawaiian Perspective," Voyage to Health Higher Education Module. I served as a history and cultural consultant for the production of two documentary films.

While the Ethnic Studies Department does not have a graduate program, I have, nevertheless served on eight (8) doctoral committees in Political Science (Dr. Jacqueline Lasky), Architecture (Dr. Jonathan Ching, Marion Ancheta, Ryan Kam), Urban and Regional Planning (Sean McNamara & Angela Fa'anunu), Linguistics (Dr. Christopher Kaliko Baker) and Botany (Namaka Whitehead) and four (4) M.A. committees, in Geography (Lance Lapier), in Anthropology (Rosanna Thurmann), in Hawaiian Studies (Anela Evans) and in Center for Pacific Islands Studies (Dominique Cordy).
